

looked upon as being the sole sure mode of dealing with the Sultan, and of holding down the ambitions of the individual European states.

Still, however, there is visible between the lines in the utterances of the premier an undercurrent of feeling that war in the East is more likely to be precipitated than avoided. In any event there will be no change in the government's programme looking to the strengthening of the British fleet very materially in order to be ready for any combination of events which may be likely to occur.

ORDER HAS BEEN RESTORED.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 11.—Sir Philip Currie, British Ambassador to Turkey, is expected back to his post at the end of the week. He was called to London in order to consult with government officials regarding the situation here, and Hon. Michael Herbert, British Charge d'Affaires, has been in charge of the embassy during his absence.

An official note was issued to the ports today, expressing the Sultan's thanks for the energetic measures taken by the imperial authorities in view of the disturbances and revolts which have broken out in certain provinces of Asia Minor, which are much more serious in nature than were those before suppressed. The note adds: "Order has been restored in all the districts that have recently been the scene of riots and conflicts, and precautions have been taken to insure the maintenance of quiet."

THE REVOLT IN ARABIA.
LONDON, Nov. 11.—A dispatch to the Standard from Constantinople says that the Sultan is alarmed because of the present critical state of affairs. From Arabia, the most vulnerable point of the Turkish empire, news has arrived of a conflict between the Turkish troops and the Arabians near Sennaia in which thirty-two persons were killed. Despite the reports of trouble in the Arabian provinces, the last detachment of troops sent to Arabia was detained five days.

A dispatch to the Times from Constantinople says that reports have been received there of new disturbances in Mosul. The British embassy at Constantinople is in possession of these reports, but so far no details have been received.

MISS WHITNEY'S WEDDING.

A Very Swell Affair Which the President Will Attend.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Papal Whitney wedding at St. Thomas Church at noon tomorrow will be a notable event. President Cleveland will be seated in the front pew and behind him will be Secretary Herbert C. Brown, Secretary Lamont and the Diplomatic Corps, including Sir Julian Pauncefote, Lord Westmeath and Mavorini Bey.

There was no rehearsal of the wedding today, but there was a large formal reception at Mr. Whitney's home at Fifth avenue and Fifty-

The order of the bridal procession will be the same as at the wedding.

Almerice Hugh Paget, who is the son of the late Almerice Hugh Paget, will lead the way and will be followed by the flower maidens, and they, in turn, by the bridesmaids. Miss Fay Whitney, the bride, will walk up aisle with her father, William C. Whitney.

quickly around the jail at midnight. Purvis was overpowered by the guards and a later broke into the prison. Purvis was at once set at liberty and had no time in getting away. There were many persons in this section but that Purvis should have gone to the gallows, there is a feeling of over his escape.

Purvis was one of the whitecaps committed so many outrages years ago and was tried for the murder of one of the men connected with the overthrow of the whitecaps.

was found guilty and sentenced to hang. Upon the day fixed for execution the rope was placed over his neck and the trap sprung, but slipped through and fell to the ground. The people believed it a miracle and would not let the sheriff proceed with the hanging. The case was taken to the Supreme Court and that body affirmed the verdict of the jury. It was to be decided on December 1.

GEN. MILES'S REPORT

COMPREHENSIVE VIEWS OF THE ARMY COMMANDER.

Need of Better Coast Defense Is Set Forth in a Most Impressive Manner.

The Great Cities of the Seaboard Incapable of Supporting First-Class Warships.

Schools' Successors Also Has Something to Say About the So-called Concentration of Troops.

Other Ideas.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The annual report of Gen. Miles, commanding the army, was made public today. The personnel is shown to be in excellent condition, well equipped, efficient and attentive to duty. Liberal appropriations are required for public buildings at the posts, many of which are out of repair. Gen. Miles believes that the peaceable condition now existing among the various Indian tribes is largely attributable to the presence of troops at suitable points and to the admirable conduct of the experienced army officers who have been placed in charge of the principal agencies. While it is economical and desirable to have the reserve forces of the army near the great centers of population, the points should be so selected that the strategic value and the tendency toward concentration should not be carried to the point of depriving the western settlements of proper protection.

Under the head of coast defense, Gen. Miles states the condition of the coast is such as to require the most immediate action for their improvement. The unguarded portion of our coast, is known by every first-class power and our people should not be lulled into false security. He quotes from his report of 1884, a strong argument for the defense of Puget Sound, showing that since the time the new Canadian navy was built, not a single gun has been placed in position for defense, while the entrance of the straits of the Columbia is a matter of little value. It is true that some progress has been made toward defending San Francisco and a few modern guns and rifles have been placed in position, but the small part of the general plan for the defense of the harbor, while San Diego is in the same condition as San Francisco, rely on the mercy of any foreign fleet.

Gen. Miles recalls what he said in his report of 1889 upon the absolute importance of the defense of the Pacific Coast, in view of the fact that it was possible for any naval power to blockade every important port within ninety days, while the coast of the United States is so long and so wide that it is impossible to place sufficient armaments to cope with the modern engines of war, and with all our intelligence, pride, inventiveness and enterprise, we are far behind in the modern appliances of war as Japan or China. Such were the conditions six years ago, says Gen. Miles, and such are the conditions today, with the exception of the slight progress made at San Francisco. The entire Pacific coast and all the great cities of the Atlantic Coast northward to Philadelphia are entirely without modern guns. In position are a few obsolete guns and none of the modern series could stop a single first-class warship, much less a fleet. Some progress has been made at New York, but like San Francisco, only a small part of the project has been accomplished. With the exception of the cities north of New York are in a similar condition. To the south of New York, the coast is more protected and some modern armaments have been constructed and some modern armaments have been constructed and some modern armaments have been constructed.

Gen. Miles, in support of his recommendation for adequate coast defense, points to the fact that the batteries at Fort Mifflin and at Fort Mifflin are four years the most powerful fleet in the world. He says that the American people cherish two misleading delusions. First, that the coast can be defended by a navy. He shows that the light-draught war vessels might pass over the coast without being detected, and that the recent maneuvers in England have shown that even the powerful British navy is unable to defend the coast against a small foreign fleet, and therefore he argues that the main reliance must be upon coast batteries.

While he does not anticipate war in the near future, he shows that in the last 200 years in less than 10 per cent. of the wars there have been any formal warning or hostilities, and as it would require years of time to construct modern weapons of war, it would be no time to disregard the lessons of the past.

It may Dispose of the French Government to Leniency. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—A dispatch from Washington says that the Secretary of War has for some time been endeavoring to secure the consideration of ex-Consul Waller's case by the new French Ministry of Foreign Affairs. He has succeeded so far as to gain an invitation from Ambassador Eustache to the French government to order Waller's release from prison out of friendship for the American government and on account of Waller's services and possibly financial reasons. The French government has not asked for the ex-Consul's release, but has intimated to the French government that any leniency shown him would be appreciated by the President. While Waller's case has not been finally acted upon here, it is known that from the evidence already in hand Secretary of War Taft is unable to find any basis for a request for his release as a right.

BOGUS STATIONERY. The Office Letter-heads of the Santa Fe Road Forged. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) BLOOMINGTON (Ill.), Nov. 11.—One month ago two young men had a quantity of stationery printed in this city, purporting to be office letter-heads of the Santa Fe Railway. They also had a rubber stamp made, bearing the following: "A. T. and S. F. R. Co." Detectives are here looking for the men who had the printing done.

It appears that discharged members of the A. R. U. in many States have been, for a consideration, furnished with letters of recommendation, purporting to be signed by the master of transportation and other officials of the Santa Fe, stating that the bearer had been employed by that road; that his services were valuable and that he was worthy of employment. The forged signature is accompanied by the imprint of the bogus office stamp. It is said the letterheads and stamp were also used in procuring passes that have been worked off through scalpers' offices.

Gen. Miles concludes his report with several recommendations intended to benefit the condition of the officers and men, and attract to the military service the best element of the community. One suggestion is that where a soldier has served honorably for five years and wishes to leave the service, he may, after passing an examination, be com-

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) HALIFAX (N. S.), Nov. 11.—Distressing stories of deprivation and starvation are brought by the mail-steamers from Jamaica. The district of St. Elizabeth, comprising 6000 persons, is in a most deplorable condition, brought about by the failure of early crops by drought and the devastation of the second crop by a visitation of caterpillars. The government of the colony has granted £1000, the parochial board of St. Elizabeth £500 and private donations reach £5000. But this will soon be exhausted.

Two deaths have already been reported, an old woman and a girl. Many of the poorer people are absolutely starving and the families have been living for weeks on a little flour and sugar. Others are subsisting on plants, and unless extensive relief comes soon, many people, old and young, must die from starvation and want of even the bare necessities. In many instances mothers are offering to give their little children away to strangers to save their lives.

WARSHIPS ON THE LAKES

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT A GROSS OFFENDER.

It Has Built Revenue Cutters There, Despite the Treaty, Which is Little Short of Being Full-Fledged Cruisers.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A special to the World from Ottawa, Ont., says that the opinion on that side of the line appears to differ from President Cleveland's interpretation of the treaty of 1817, regarding the right of Canada or the United States to build warships on the Great Lakes, in deciding against the construction of new cruisers at Detroit.

Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian Minister of Justice, formerly Minister of Marine, says the treaty speaks for itself. Being asked what the Canadian government has not infringed the treaty in constructing cruisers on the lakes, Sir Charles Tupper said they were only revenue cutters.

The treaty stipulates that the naval force of each country shall consist of not more than one vessel, not exceeding 100 tons burden, on Lake Ontario, two on Lake Erie, and one on each of the other lakes. The Canadian government has built three armed cruisers on the lakes since 1891. The Curlew, the Constellation and the Petrel, Commander Vasey of the Dominion fishery-protective service, quotes in his report in 1893 the following description of the cruiser:

"The Curlew and her sister ships are far superior to the ships maintained on the lakes by the United States revenue department. In construction they were needed for such a purpose, they would make very formidable commerce-destructors. The frame is of steel, the hull is of iron, the bottom is of rock elm. ### THE LATTER'S INTERVENTION TO BE ASKED.

President Palma Will Go to the National Capitol with that Object in View.

Recognition as Belligerents is Not Now Wanted—Force is the Thing.

Martinez de Campos Will Conduct the Operations Against Gome's Personally—The Search of the Harriet G.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(Special Dispatch.) No action will be taken at present, but in January or February, if by that time Spain shall have failed to suppress the insurrection, the government will offer its services as a mediator. In his annual message to Congress the President will confine his remarks concerning Cuba to a mention of the efforts made by this government to maintain the laws of neutrality.

In order to forestall possible action by Congress on the recognition of belligerents' rights or the sovereignty of Cuba, the President and Secretary of State will take into their confidence concerning the plans of mediation the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate and the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House. It is believed that this will prevent the adoption in the House of resolutions designed to give encouragement to the insurgents, but whose effect might be to compel the President to take action.

Information has been received that the present condition of the Spanish treasury is such that, without replenishing the funds, Spain will not be able to carry on the war beyond the middle of December, or the first of January. The Washington government is inclined to believe Spain's effort to crush the rebellion will come to naught through lack of financial resources.

Mediation once accepted, it is the purpose of President Cleveland and Secretary Olney to propose that, in consideration of being granted her independence, Cuba pay to Spain a certain sum, representing approximately the cost of Spain's efforts to suppress the present rebellion.

The announcement that Palma, the diplomatic agent of the Cubans in the United States, is coming to Washington is not viewed with favor by the administration. The administration may consent to receive him as a political agent, but the intercourse which he can have with the officials of the State Department will be informal.

Bates to go there with the regular army to see that the members of the regular army took no part in the drill.

It was rumored that the members of the regular army had taken part in the drill, but the Thurston Rifles were only a regular organization of the Omaha Guards was absurd and arose from the fact that the members of the Guards were formerly guards.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Capt. Hank Haf, the skipper of the Defender, is ill at his home in Hellp, with a recurrence of the cancerous trouble which affected him last year. His physician will allow no one to see him. In his thirtieth year, Capt. Haf took to yachting, taking the wheel of the ancient ferry Evelyn. In 1876, he was in command of the Onward, a post he held until 1885, when he stepped the famous sloop Fannie to many victories. Then he went aboard the cup-defender Mayflower, and afterward took the Volunteer to victory.

His last victory was on the Titan, and during the trial in 1893 he sailed the Columbia. It was no fault of his that the Defender was defeated by the Vigilant, but he was always at the wheel on the Defender during the recent races with the Valkyrie.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) MANCHESTER (N. H.), Nov. 11.—Late Saturday night the State Bank Commissioners made application to the Supreme Court for a receiver for the New Hampshire Trust Company, for the benefit of its creditors.

The liabilities are put at $22,532 in the trust department, and $72,187 in the savings department. The company holds mortgages and liens on 1000 parcels of lands in the two Dakotas and Minnesota, on which it cannot now realize, and also owns a large amount of valuable real estate in this State and in Maine.

WAS A BLACKMAILER.

Inspection Testimony Against Ex-Inspector Byrnes of New York.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT. NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Commissioners of Accounts who have been investigating the transactions of the Dock Board for some time past, today took the field covered by the Lexow Committee, and has brought forward testimony which, for the first time, implicates Thomas Byrnes, the noted ex-Superintendent of Police, in the blackmailing scandals.

The accusing witness was Christian W. Schaefer, an old man, who testified that he had kept gambling houses in this city since 1865, and that he had been a partner in a gambling house for a quarter of a century. Shortly after the latter was appointed Captain of the Fifth Precinct, about 1872 or 1873, Byrnes sent him a letter, in which he asked him to keep a gambling house for him. Byrnes replied that he was king in that precinct, and that the witness had presumed greatly in running a gambling house there. Byrnes consented to wait until the next day before taking action. The witness went to see Byrnes, and informed him of Byrnes's threat. Byrnes saw Byrnes and told him that he closed the gambling place, and that he had to close the other gambling places in his precinct. The witness's place was not disturbed.

Afterward he saw Byrnes again and said to him: "While we are making money, we are willing that others should." He made this proposition to Byrnes. That the latter should receive one-fourth share of the profits of the business, which was keno. It was accepted. Thereafter the witness regularly paid Byrnes personally each week a fourth share of the profits. The partnership continued for ten months, during which time Byrnes sent him a letter, in which he asked him to keep a gambling house for him.

Said Schaefer: "I kept a gambling house for twenty years and had to pay the police nearly all the time. Some of the captains of the police were usually around these were Washburn, Hadden and Saunders. Cafery's wardman came around. He was Sergeant Schenckmaker, and I also saw Byrnes. Byrnes was a wardman. I paid $50 a month, which was the usual price up to 1876, when the price was raised to $100 a month."

Schaefer said that he was a witness when the latter was acting chief of detectives, $700 out of $950 taken from a "squealer," and of a similar percentage to the witness of the case of Byrnes. Williams. His partner had paid ex-Fire Commissioner John Scannell $100 a month when Scannell was understood to be a witness of the case of Byrnes. Schaefer testified that he had been requested to keep away from the city during the Lexow investigation and had evaded a summons.

Argentine and Bolivia. NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A special to the Herald from Buenos Ayres says that the Argentine government is extremely conservative in tone, says that the time has arrived when it is impossible longer to tolerate the conduct of Bolivia. The Argentine government is in a peculiar position with regard to the Bolivian government. His representations to the Argentine government and all matters pending between the two countries are referred to the Bolivian minister at Buenos Ayres for settlement in connection with the Argentine Office, instead of being arranged through Argentine's minister in Sucre.

Searching Byrnes's Record. NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Commissioners of Accounts this afternoon took up the investigation of some alleged irregularities of Police Chief Thomas F. Byrnes. Chief Byrnes, who was a commissioner that he was proprietor of a gambling place during the years 1872 and 1873, and that he was a partner of Mercer-street station, and that during that time he paid Byrnes a quarter of all his receipts each month.

Jennie Metcalf's Sentence. BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Jennie Metcalf, 15 years old, was today committed to the Massachusetts Reformatory Prison at Sherburne, where she will remain a United States prisoner from Oklahoma, having been found guilty of horse-stealing. Jennie was a member of the notorious Dalton gang, and was captured five months ago, after a horse-stealing expedition near Pawnee, Okla.

The "Bean King's" Death. GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.), Nov. 11.—The body of William Lamoreaux, committing suicide at his home in this city Sunday by shooting himself in the head while in a fit of despondency. He was the largest operator in beans in the country, annually handling 1,000,000 bushels and had agents in all the large cities from San Francisco to Boston. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy last summer which affected his mind.

Timber Sales and Homesteads. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—In the case of John D. Shiver versus the United States, the Supreme Court today decided in an opinion handed down by Justice Brown that lands entered under the homestead laws are not by the mere act of entry so segregated from the public domain as to give the homesteader a right to sell timber from the entry, and in doing so renders himself liable to criminal prosecution.

Chicago Papers for a Penny. CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The Tribune in its issue of Sunday announced that the price of that paper on week-days, inside the city, is 1 cent. This morning the Times-Herald and the Inter-Ocean, the only other 2-cent morning papers, announce a similar reduction in their price to meet the cut made by the Tribune. The action of these two morning papers today places all the morning papers in Chicago at 1 cent a copy.

LOOKING FOR SOGERS

ALVA UDELL IS FAR, FAR FROM HOME.

The Los Angeles Attorney Wants to Arrest Thirteen Bluecoats at Sacramento.

He Goes as an Avenging Spirit on Behalf of the Blood of Charles Stewart.

Theodore Durrant's Parents Nearly Asphyxiated—Mother Murdered in Round Valley—Handit Brady's Admissions.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11.—Alva Udell, an attorney of Los Angeles, is in the city for the purpose of securing warrants for the arrest of the United States soldiers who killed Charles Stewart in this city during the railroad strike.

Udell asserts that on the 7th of September he addressed a letter to District Attorney Ryan, which that official has not yet answered. Udell claims that the regulars who were here had no authority and that in killing Stewart they acted merely as civilians, taking the law into their own hands. He says he asked the District Attorney to take "such action as would cause the arrest of the parties engaged in the atrocious crime," and as the District Attorney did not do anything he came up here to have done himself.

The persons whom he will charge with murder are: Capt. B. K. Roberts of Troop K, Fifth United States Cavalry, and the following sub-officers and privates: John Smith, Bedford Hugh, John Weiss, Charles Morrison, Gustav Kling, Jacob Kropp, Nathan J. Day, William H. Hildner, and others. He says that Udell will accept the testimony brought out at the coroner's inquest as the basis of action. He says that he remembered, was not a striker, but was shot while the soldiers were occupying Front street and while he was discharging an order to halt.

BIKES IN TRAIN-ROBBERY.

Handit Brady Knew a Good Thing When He Had It.

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 11.—The trial of Handit Brady for the murder of Sheriff Bogard is proceeding rapidly. Today several witnesses positively identified Brady as the man seen previously in the robbery in company with the dead train-robbler. Both had bicycles.

Samillus Silver, a saloon-keeper of Redding, was the most important witness of the day. He said that he saw Brady last June on the road between Red Bluff and Sacramento. Brady was in a car and was talking to him. The train-robbery was discussed and Brady told him it was accomplished. He said the men who robbed the four trains near Shasta were the same who robbed the train at Wheatland. Brady told of the advantage of the bicycle in the train-robbery business, and said that the robbery netted the robbers $50,000.

SHOLTO'S MAN-IN-LAW.

Mrs. Mooney Still Advertising the Lord and Her Daughter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Lord Sholto Douglas and his mother-in-law, Mrs. M. Mooney, who has announced that he will marry her, will meet in Los Angeles tomorrow.

Whether the meeting will terminate in a treaty of peace or a whoop of war, even Mrs. Mooney is unable to predict. She hopes it will be peace, but, mindful of the Queensbury tendencies, she fears it will be war.

Mrs. Mooney hoped to reach Los Angeles before the arrival of the bridegroom, but she was unable to do so. She intended to bring him to account. She wanted to take him unawares; to take him by storm, as it were. "He's such a coward he will get out of the way when he ascertains that I am coming," she said, "and I would not wonder much if he did. I have never been really unaccountable. I never know just what he will do next."

Mrs. Mooney has more than one grievance against the bridegroom. She is a Queensbury's son. She has a whole lot of quarrels with him, and upon each and every one of the respective charges she will call his Lordship to account. She presents the innocent letters he has addressed to herself and family, but she is determined to collect $20 he borrowed from one of her daughters here when he took his bride and fled to the suburbs of Los Gatos.

She further objects to his permitting his wife to return to the stage, and worst of all, she resents his enjoyment of the proceeds of her labor. "No one knows what I've stood from the spur of the moment, but I never opened my mouth, but hoped in time he would come to his senses; that is, if he had any. I have never interfered between Lord Sholto and his wife in any way. After he sent me a letter saying he did not wish me to visit my daughter at her home, I went on going there. I have never seen her since Saturday after she was married, when I went with Loretta to see her off on the train to Burlington."

"I can give you a little inside story on Sholto's marrying which is not known outside the family. When he and Loretta mysteriously disappeared several days after their marriage, they did not go off on money sent to his Lordship from England, as was reported, but on money borrowed by Loretta and him from my two daughters. Sholto had little or no money at that time, and Loretta had to come up and help him out of a tight place. She borrowed from her sister, Madge Addis, and he borrowed $30 from her sister, Helen Addis. This money he promised to return. He paid back the $30, but the $20 still due. When my daughter Madge was here in September she told me to collect the $20 for my use."

"I never mentioned money to Lady Douglas after her marriage. I never asked her for a penny. It was not until Madge told me to collect the $20 that I broached the subject. Loretta said that as soon as she could she would pay the money. Lord Sholto learned that I had made application to her for it and sent me a scathing letter telling me to quit demanding money."

This is the letter written by Lord Douglas to his mother-in-law which caused all the trouble.

HILL STREET, Los Angeles, Cal.
To Mrs. Mooney: My last letter to you was written rather in a hurry on the spur of the moment, but I want you to thoroughly understand how I stand. You never seemed to have grasped the situation at all. Don't you understand that I would never allow my wife to send you money? It would be utterly impossible. I want my wife to drop you entirely, to put it in plain words. Have I not written you many times and hinted that I do not want anything to do with you in any shape or form? Now, if that is the case, do you think that I will calmly stand by and see her provide you with money? No; I am no fool, and when I say a thing, by God, I mean it. You have interfered altogether too much, and it is now time to stop. My wife is my wife, and as such she is part of me, and as I have made up my mind to drop you, she must. You do not deserve her love in any way. All you thought when you had her was to make money out of her; you neglected her in every way. Now mind you, I'm no fool, and what I say, before God and heaven I mean. So let's have no more of these troublesome demands for money. Yours, etc.,

(Signed), SHOLTO DOUGLAS.

LAWYER'S FEES.

Attorney Delmas Asks a Return in the Miller-Lux Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Attorney Delmas asked today for a return of the lawyers' fees paid by the firm of Miller & Lux in the past four or five years. The totals are instructive to the court in the litigation, one of which, in legal jargon, was described as "friendly." The fees in question were mostly paid for services in the suit for an accounting brought by the Lux estate against the firm of Miller & Lux. Delmas claims that Henry Miller ran both ends of that litigation, for the reason that Jesse Sheldon, Poter's subject to Miller's influence, Poter was plaintiff in the suit as the surviving executor of the estate of Charles Lux.

The return of the fees made today represents only a part of the money paid for legal services in the suit. The sums paid W. F. Herrin, Matlack, Selcher & Matlack, Eugene Gaffner and E. W. McKinstry are shown, and foot up close to $75,000 in about five years. Delmas will argue that a large part of the money was charged to the firm of Miller & Lux, when it ought properly to have been paid from Henry Miller's private account. This theory will have an important bearing on his judgment of Poter's fitness to continue as executor of the Lux estate.

POISONED CATTLE.

A Noxious Fungus Growth Found on Elk Grove Alfalfa.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11.—Dr. H. W. Harkness, president of the Academy of Sciences, believes that the death of a number of cattle near Old Elk Grove, this county, is due to a poisonous fungus growth on the alfalfa that is being grown. Dr. Harkness appeared before the Board of Supervisors today and exhibited specimens of infected grass. The fungus were brown blotches, like rust, on the grass.

"The fungus is known as the dothidea," said the scientist, "and it may be found in any alfalfa field in California, wherever alfalfa grows. Two years ago I investigated the cause of the death of several thousand head of cattle at Missouri, which had been imported from Arizona. Death was found to be due to this poisonous growth on the alfalfa. We saved the rest of the herd merely by turning it out on a dry field."

Dr. Harkness said the fungus is fatal only in the month of October. It is a very rare disease, and it has been known to occur in California before. It is a disease of the alfalfa, and it is a disease of the alfalfa.

JUDGE GILLUM BAILEY.

Death of One of the Oldest Citizens of Fresno County.

FRESNO, Nov. 11.—Judge Gillum Bailey, a pioneer of California and one of the oldest citizens of Fresno county, died this evening.

Judge Bailey was born near Springfield, Ill., in 1813, of Southern ancestors. He crossed the plains in 1849, returned to Missouri in 1858 and came to Fresno in 1860. He was married to Mrs. Bailey, who died in 1880. He was twice married. He took an active interest in Democratic politics up to the time of his death, and made a speech in the county campaign of last year.

CARRIED OUT HIS THREAT.

J. D. Sherman Reported to Have Killed His Wife's Paramour.

UKIAH, Nov. 11.—It was reported here that another murder had been committed in Round Valley. J. D. Sherman, lately acquitted in Kansas for the murder of Maj. Meagher in 1890 left for Covelo last week. He had learned that during his absence in the East his wife had eloped with a man named John Valleley. On his arrival here on his way he threatened to kill Valleley on sight.

According to the report now current, he has carried the threat into execution. Valleley is a desperado, having killed a man named G. W. Parker, this city before his departure for Kansas. For the latter offense he was arrested and convicted of manslaughter. The Supreme Court granted him a new trial. The case was then dismissed at the request of the Kansas officials. Valleley, the man said to have been killed by Sherman, was also a desperado man.

LODI GLEANINGS.

Thomas Burns Lost to Sight—Thomas Taylor Killed.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

LODI, Nov. 11.—Two weeks ago Thomas Burns, a well-known farmer of the Onondaga, went to Stockton to consult a physician. He did not consult the physician and has not returned and no clew to his whereabouts has yet been found. Thomas Taylor, a prominent farmer, living three miles west of here, was picked up on the road last night, having fallen from a cart. He died during the night.

THE SWEET-WINE MEN.

Their Plan for Procuring Proper Returns for Their Goods.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—The plan of the sweet-wine men to maintain their product at paying prices has been made public. It provides for a deed of trust to a board of trustees, and it is claimed for it that it will entail little expense. This will principally consist in the employment of an inspector to ascertain the kinds and quality of wine turned in by each vineyard, the rent of a small office, and the services of a book-keeper. The trustees will give their services free, and as they are the representatives of the largest sweet-wine vineyards in the State it will be to their interest to conduct their trust as economically as possible.

The four trustees selected at the general meeting last week assembled today for the first time. There were present L. P. Drexler, D. Henshaw Ward, H. Trevelyan and Frank A. West. Capt. Youngberg was instructed to go south tomorrow with the deed of trust in or-

President Cleveland and Secretary Herbert are expected to leave for New York today. They will be accompanied by Miss Pauline Whitney in New York today. They left Washington last night.

The President's intended departure and the crowd at the station was small. It was generally expected that Mrs. Cleveland would be in the city, but she finally determined not to make the trip.

DURRANT'S PARENTS OVERCOME.

Nearly Asphyxiated by Gas While in a Jail.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—The parents of Theodore Durrant had a narrow escape from asphyxiation by gas on Friday night. A young lady visitor at the house, unfamiliar with the electric gas-lighting attachment, pressed a button to light the gas. She did not press hard enough to light the gas, and Mr. and Mrs. Durrant, who had retired, awoke to find the room filled with gas. Mr. Durrant managed to rouse her husband and open a window.

BANK ATTACKED.

The Riverside Banking Company is in Trouble.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—An attachment was placed on the property of Riverside Banking Company today, which resulted in the probability of closing that institution for a time at least. Some days ago suit was brought against the bank by Mrs. Woodman, a depositor, to recover $2000 which was the amount of her deposit. The bank closed nearly three years ago, and it was on this case that the attachment was placed. The sheriff is now in possession, however, for a result of the concern for them. This latter move, or something like it, was anticipated, as when the commissioners examined the books of the bank, they found that they had been very unsatisfactory and so reported to the Attorney-General. The latter is now asking his advice as to taking charge of the bank. It is now believed some decisive steps looking to the windup of the bank's affairs will be had.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

One proof of the rapidly-increasing oil industry in Southern California is a new tank steamer especially constructed for shipping oil. A line of these vessels would open up a tremendous industry for this region.

Nearly a ton of melons produced by a single vine in one season is the proud record reported by an Alpine rancher in San Diego county. This vine produced forty-two pie melons weighing from forty to eighty pounds each.

Juries are uncertain quantities, but one jury has done its duty to the Queen's taste in convicting Clifton E. Mayne. It now remains to see that he stays convicted, and has ample time and reason to repent of his misdeeds.

San Diego is smiling broadly over Mayne's character witness sent up from that beautiful village. Some piquant revelations of the gentleman's little idiosyncrasies might be made by the San Diegoan officials who have had dealings with him.

The first-street cut is nearly finished at last, and its usefulness was demonstrated last night when it afforded a short road to the Bradbury fire. The first vehicle to pass through the cut was a horse-cart carrying relief and safety to the neighborhood of the fire. It was a good omen for the newly-opened street.

There is a prospect of a beet-sugar factory at Anaheim in the near future, an Eastern syndicate having taken hold of the proposition in good earnest. After all the obstacles placed in the way of the enterprise by persons interested in preventing competition the project promises to succeed at last.

Four inches of snow on Palomar Mountain in November is a sign for the weather sharps to ponder over. A snow-fall on that peak during the month of November has not occurred before in eight years. Geese are also flying south, which, to the mind of the homespun meteorologist, may signify an early winter. It depends on the kind of geese they are.

The contract for the new City Jail has been signed, sealed and delivered. The structure to be ready for occupancy by May 11, 1896. Meantime arrangements must be made to relieve the congested condition of the old City Jail through the winter months. It is at present crowded far beyond its normal capacity. It is pitiable to see how the unfortunate hordes are herded together in the foul den. It is due to the jailers, however, to say that it is kept as clean as possible. It is lack of room that is the principal trouble. Prisoners are packed in the tanks as close as sardines in a box.

A manifestation of plagiaristic gall seldom excelled anywhere on earth is given by one Thompson of Riggs street, Washington, D. C., a contributor to Life. This literary robber, taking a story which was printed for the first time in this column of The Times last summer, sends it to Life as his own contribution to a prize-story competition. It was accepted, printed and awarded a valuable prize. Thompson of Riggs street, as a rigger of other men's wares deserves rigorous condemnation. The prize story was as follows: "A San Diego woman, who was pestered, as many people are, by other folks' chickens scratching up her flower bed and littering her yard, hit on a novel scheme for conveying a gentle hint to her neighbors. She tied a lot of strong cards with small threads to big kernels of corn, and wrote on the cards, 'Please keep your chickens at home.' The chickens ate the corn and carried the message to their owners in a fashion that was startling and effective."

Associated Charities.
The second annual meeting of the Associated Charities will take place Tuesday, November 12, at 2:30 p.m., in the rooms of the Associated Ladies, 11 and 12, Courthouse, at which time a full report of the work accomplished during the past year will be made; also the election of officers for the coming year. As this is an important meeting, it is hoped that every person interested in the success of the Charities will be present.

SHE MADE TROUBLE.

SUPERVISORS HAD A LIVELY TIME YESTERDAY.

A Good Christian with a Fondness for Investigation—Trouble Caused at the County Hospital by Her Visits.

Many people in this world of tears and tribulations would be immeasurably benefited by giving a day or two to the careful study of the eleventh commandment, "Mind your own business," and the rest of their lives to the equally careful application of the rule, which is a safe and strong peg upon which to hang the decalogue. If the busybodies themselves were not able to absorb the benefit, owing to absolute incapacity to understand the spirit of the rule, the rest of suffering humanity who write under the intrusion of impertinence under the guise of Christian charity, would count any definite penalty, fixed by the law of the land, as punishment for the infringement of this unwritten law which should govern all society, as the greatest blessing ever bestowed upon the community.

Of all the varieties of meddling, that busy woman which resorts to trickery and deception in order to cause trouble to a well-regulated public institution of charity, is about the most annoying, because it is productive of the worst consequences. Of this class has been the constant interference of a well-meaning but over-zealous woman in the affairs of the County Hospital.

Mrs. S. V. Landt undoubtedly means well, but it has needed the patience of Job himself to enable the unlucky superintendent of the county's well-conducted haven of refuge for the poor and sick, to withstand the effect among his patients of Mrs. Landt's Christian efforts to benefit at once their souls and bodies.

The worthy lady made the life of Dr. Hagan a burden to him and almost succeeded in bringing about an "investigation" before the Board of Supervisors, that hung on for three weary weeks, and resulted in the triumphant vindication of the superintendent upon every charge brought against him.

Since the incumbency of Dr. Barber, Mrs. Landt has commenced a new campaign upon the same old lines, which culminated yesterday in a battle royal in the Supervisors' room. This time it was about the "impertinence" of a deputy sheriff who had been detailed to accompany Mrs. Landt on her tours of investigation about the hospital, which she evidently regards as her peculiar charge and responsibility in life.

The deputy sheriff was considered necessary, because of the alleged peculiarity of Mrs. Landt's methods of investigation. She had been given the freedom of the place by Dr. Barber, she boasted, she was exceedingly charitable in giving clothing and other necessities to the patients, and because there was nothing to conceal in the management of the hospital.

Mrs. Landt, it is alleged, took advantage of the confidence thus reposed in her by the superintendent, to go about the hospital, telling the patients that they were not properly fed or clothed, and that the superintendent was rolling in luxury, while they starved. The patients are so well treated by the management that, with most of them, this sort of talk had no effect, but a few caught at it eagerly, the result was a disturbance in the hospital, which was with difficulty adjusted.

This state of affairs continued for some time, each visit of the kind lady being followed by a rebellion on the part of two or three old cranks, and the superintendent was obliged to deal with trouble in straightening matters out. Dr. Barber bore it with patience until Mrs. Landt abstracted some milk from one of the wards while the nurse's back was turned, and carried it off to be tested. It was found to contain a certain percentage of water, and great was the triumph of Mrs. Landt.

Instead of going to Dr. Barber about it, this diplomatic Christian proceeded to disseminate the news, and to enlarge upon her pet grievance. The large ashen upon her pet grievance, the bad management of the County Hospital. When it came to the ears of the physicians, they once, in justice to Dr. Barber, sent out an officer to investigate the affair.

It was quite true. Milk was taken from all the tables, and tested, and some of it did contain water, among these samples being some from the superintendent's own table. As the visit of the inspector had been utterly unexpected there was no question of fair dealing in the matter, which could only be explained by the fact that the hospital had been obliged to purchase some of the milk used, and that it was distributed indiscriminately throughout the hospital.

With the knowledge of the milk transaction came proofs of more of Mrs. Landt's "investigation," which caused the management to deem it best for the quietude of the hospital and the well-being of the patients that a deputy sheriff should henceforth accompany Mrs. Landt on her visits. The officer had orders not to restrain her in any way and to treat her with marked courtesy at all times, but Mrs. Landt resented his presence and made her resentment felt in such a fashion that the man's mission was anything but a comfortable one.

He had orders not to allow Mrs. Landt to stay beyond the usual visiting hours, and in the enforcement of this order he probably had his patience strained to the snapping point, for the burden of Mrs. Landt's tale of woe to the Supervisors yesterday was that the deputy had threatened, unless she departed peaceably at the regular hour, "take her by the shoulders and put her out."

The only wonder was that, under the circumstances, the man had merely said this instead of doing it, but Mrs. Landt was mortally insulted, and went before the board, attended by a large deputation of ladies, to see that the deputy was visited with the condign punishment he deserved.

Dr. Barber was there, and, in the course of the hour or two it took to lay the matter before the board, the whole ground was gone over. The Supervisors listened patiently, but finally Supervisor Woodward turned around in his chair and delivered a wholesome, fatherly lecture on the evils of private interference in public affairs, especially when that interference was not quite open and above-board. He was backed up by Supervisors Field and Hanley, who also gave the ladies some sensible words of advice, and Dr. Barber then took the floor and "had it out" with Mrs. Landt.

The able, hard-working superintendent went into the matter very thoroughly, and successfully refuted every one of the ridiculous charges brought against him.

The board finally promised to investigate the matter of the deputy sheriff's alleged impertinent speech. Mrs. Landt was apparently pacified for the time being. The board, having a wholesome recollection of the three weeks of her "investigation" of Dr. Hagan, is now rather dreading a repetition of the dose.

MAYNE CONVICTED.

THE JURY FOUND HIM GUILTY AS CHARGED.

(Did not Take Them Long to Agree on a Verdict After the Case Was Submitted.)

The Culprit Takes His Conviction with Apparent Good Grace—Time for Sentence Set.

On the Witness Stand the Defendant Told the Story of His Life and Denied His Guilt—Arguments of Counsel.

Clifton E. Mayne, financial adventurer, manipulator of questionable investments, enterprise and debaucher of young girls, was yesterday convicted by a jury in Superior Judge Smith's court of criminal assault on the person of Clara E. Shipton of San Francisco. Owing to business engagements of his chief counsel, J. L. Cope-land of San Diego, the time for passing sentence was postponed till next Tuesday.

A motion for a new trial will probably be made when the case is called next Tuesday, and if the motion is denied, an appeal will be taken from the verdict of conviction and the order denying the motion for a new trial.

MAYNE'S STORY.

When the case was resumed yesterday morning, the defendant took the stand, and told in detail the history of his life. He said he was 40 years old; that he was born in Van Buren county, Iowa, and that his first work was herding cattle on a farm. He was then 16 years old, and remained there till he was 19 years old. He then went to Marion county, Iowa, and kept a store. At 10 years he was telegraph operator on the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad, at Albia, Iowa. Shortly afterward he was made station-agent at Tyrone, Iowa, and remained there till he was 16 years old. He then became telegraph operator, and afterward chief operator, in the Western Union office at Omaha, Neb. Witness said he built the first electric road, first electric-light system, and first telephone system in Omaha.

He married in 1878 and had three children by his first wife, a boy and two girls, who would be 17, 14 and 12 years old, respectively, if they had lived. Defendant and his first wife separated in 1887, and he left Omaha in 1889. He married again in 1891. His second wife had a daughter, and no children were born to the couple.

Defendant jumped abruptly to his first acquaintance with the Shipton girls, and said he met Della November 17, 1894, and Elsie on Christmas, 1894. In answer to a question as to what reason he had for cultivating the acquaintance of the girls he said the only person who ever had any true affection for him was a daughter that he lost, and he wanted to adopt Della because she resembled very closely that daughter. Della afterward asked him to adopt Elsie also. He didn't intend to live any longer with his wife. Della was willing to go with him and arrangements were made with Mrs. Shipton. Elsie was not mentioned till the day before Christmas.

Defendant denied that he ever had any criminal relations with Elsie. He was sick at Mrs. Wright's seven or eight days and was confined to his bed three or four days. He recovered, so he could leave the house about Monday or Tuesday, the 25th or 26th of March. Witness said Mrs. Wright kept his room unoccupied for a month after he left, and to him several times that the room was ready for him whenever he wanted it. No one ever spoke of the defendant ever having had improper relations with the girls. For the care of the girls, and that was all he ever heard from the Wrights. When defendant advertised in San Francisco and his advertisement was answered by the Shipton girls, he had not succeeded in making a settlement with his wife. She had nearly all his property in her name and he used the name of the girls to get a settlement.

He told the girls he was married and had a step-daughter. His step-daughter had never had any affection for him. She was not a true daughter to him. The prosecution endeavored ineffectually to introduce testimony by Elsie in explanation of some minor contradictions in her cross-examination, but the court, after long arguments, would not permit it. At an attempt to get an answer from Elsie as to whether she was the wife of Mayne on the 25th and 26th of March, as evidence in the case, but the court ruled it out.

This ruling had no real effect on the outcome of the case, as Mayne had admitted, on cross-examination, that Elsie was not his wife and never had been.

THE ARGUMENTS.

The introduction of testimony closed at 11:30 o'clock, and an adjournment was taken until 1:30 p.m. Mr. McComas opened the argument for the prosecution. Instead of closing, as usual, and hammering conviction home to the hearts of the jury by his able summing up of the case he is conducting, and the general all-around character to which he treats the other side. Although he manifestly felt at a disadvantage in this being put at the wrong end of the argument, the old war-horse contrived to do some vigorous dancing on the prostrate forms of the defendant and his attorneys.

After a brief review of the evidence, and a masterly presentation of the damning facts of the case, Mr. McComas turned himself loose on Mayne, and, as he himself might say, literally "peeled the bark" of him. Mayne's unspeakable crime was held up to view in all its hideousness, and the man himself was literally scorched to a cinder by the burning invective and withering sarcasm of the District Attorney who knew his duty, and of the man who loathed the crime of the creature before him so intensely that he would leave no stone unturned to give him his just deserts.

Mr. Cope-land made what showing he could for the defense, and covered up the weakness of his case by spending a good portion of his time in personal attacks upon the witnesses, especially scoring the brave little woman who has protected the wronged and unfortunate girl through thick and thin, and who has made such a gallant fight for the right, rising from a sick-bed to appear in court, and battling bravely for the child who sat in the District Attorney's office, caring for the five-weeks-old baby of her brave and kind protectress.

During the savage attack upon Mrs. Wright, the jury sat and looked on sympathetically, and when Mr. Holton rose to close for the prosecution, everyone expected a hot retort. The listeners were disappointed, however, for Mr. Holton, apparently thinking his colleague had indulged in sufficient invective for both, let his opponent off easily, and confined his attention to the evidence, of which he presented a solid and convincing summary, making an effective and convincing argument.

A SPEEDY VERDICT.

At 5 o'clock the jury was instructed by the court and retired to deliberate. At 6 o'clock, as they had not agreed on a verdict, they were given their supper.

At 8 o'clock last evening court again convened and the jury filed in and was seated. Foreman Charles Howard arose and, in response to a question by the court as to whether they had agreed on a verdict, announced that they found the defendant guilty of rape as charged in the information.

Mayne blanched a little, fully realizing perhaps that the brutal crime for which he had been convicted had for its penalty a sentence of from five years to life imprisonment. This depression lasted but a moment. With all the boldness which has characterized his swindling operations in many cities, he bit his lip nervously, threw back his head and defiant fire gleamed from his eyes as he was led from the courtroom to his cell in the County Jail.

FIRE ON THE HILL.

The Bradbury Stable Partially Consumed Last Evening.

A brilliant spectacle was afforded last night in the burning of the large barn in the rear of the Bradbury mansion at Hill and Court streets. Shortly after 7 o'clock fire was discovered in the upper part of the barn, among the hay. The flames spread rapidly and had made a good deal of headway before the fire department succeeded in getting a stream of water on it. An alarm was sounded from box No. 52, at Temple street and Bunker Hill avenue, and a telephone alarm was sent in about the same time. The streets were heavy and slippery with the light rain that had fallen, and it was with difficulty that the heavy pieces of apparatus were hauled up the steep grades to where they could be used.

The hose cart which goes with engine No. 3 was hauled through the first street cut, it being probably the first time that the cut was ever used as a passageway for a vehicle. Engine No. 8 was attached to the hydrant opposite the Times office and hose was laid to the fire, on which one other stream was played.

A roaring mass of flame was soon surging from the roof, and owing to the elevated location the fire could be seen from a long distance. Hundreds, and perhaps thousands, of people turned out to see it.

The Bradbury mansion was at a safe distance from the barn, and what little wind there was blew the other way. The side of the house was kept wet with a garden hose, and the paint was scarcely scorched. The house of Robert Elliot, situated on the Oliver street side of the burning building, did not fare so well. The rear seemed ready to catch fire, and thinking the house was doomed, people soon had nearly everything portable removed from it.

By this time, however, the department was enabled to do effective work, and a stream of water on the corner of the barn nearest to the Elliott house soon rendered the latter building safe. Another stream was started playing near the opposite corner of the barn, and then it was only a matter of time before the flames were subdued. The fire was kept mostly in the upper part of the barn.

All the horses, as well as the fine carriages and harnesses, were taken from the barn soon after the fire was discovered, and so the damage was mostly confined to the building proper and the baled hay with which the barn had been filled only two or three days before. The roof and upper portion of the barn were completely destroyed. The barn cost about $700 and was insured in the London Assurance Corporation for $2500. Louis F. Vetter, the local agent, says the loss is fully covered by the excess of the insurance. Col. Bradbury is on Catalina Island at present. His agent did not know exactly at what figures to estimate the loss last evening.

IT LOOKS BAD.

The Mead-Wright Failure Has an Unpleasant Aspect.

Development in the Mead-Wright failure yesterday seemed to bear out the previous reports that the members of the firm and their head book-keeper have purposely left the city or gone into hiding. The more the affairs of the firm are looked into, the more it looks as though they deliberately planned to swindle their creditors. Their total liabilities are estimated to foot up in the neighborhood of $20,000, and there are only a few thousand dollars' worth of assets in sight. Enough will be realized to pay off the preferred claims of the employees, but there will be little left to satisfy the $14,000 claim of the First National Bank and other creditors.

President Elliott of the First National Bank said yesterday that their claim is for money loaned and not for overdrafts. Of course the bank has collateral, such as it is, but it is practically worthless; the property of the firm having apparently been purposely sequestered.

Before Book-keeper Grew left last Saturday, he said the books of the firm were locked up in the safe, but when the Sheriff opened the safe, it was found that the books as well as the book-keeper and his employers were missing. All the books found are old ones, and the Sheriff says they throw no light on the firm's affairs. E. E. Grew, the missing book-keeper, was in the employ of the firm and its predecessors for fourteen years and always bore a splendid reputation. His disappearance is one of the sensational features of the case. His wife, to whom he has always been kind and attentive, is lying at the point of death, but has had no message from him since. An explanation of his absence. At least that is the word that was given out by her nurse yesterday.

Mead and Grew were said to have been at Colton on Sunday. No criminal complaints have been made against them, although the opinion is freely expressed that there are grounds for doing so.

The Sheriff is still in charge and yesterday sold a lot of the perishable property. It will probably be some days before matters will be straightened out.

THE STANFORD CASE.

It Will Come Up the First Monday in January.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The motion to advance the Stanford case was made by Atty.-Gen. Harmon for the United States and concurred in by Joseph Choate, a representative of Mrs. Stanford. Atty.-Gen. Harmon, in making the motion, said that the case involved a large amount of money, and would affect the United States because of the government's interest in the Pacific railroads, for the bonds of which the Stanford estate was held liable. He asked that argument be set for the first Monday in January, after the cases now on docket for that day shall be disposed of. He also asked for extra time for argument.

After some explanations as to the crowded condition of the docket for that time, made by Chief Justice Fuller, the court granted the motion to advance the case for the first Monday in January, giving such side an hour for presenting it, or three hours to a side.

Japan's Additional Indemnity. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The Japanese minister has received a telegram that a convention has been signed at Peking, providing for the payment of an additional indemnity by China for the evacuation of the Liao Tung Peninsula. The amount is $30,000,000 taels, to be paid on November 15, 1895.

VENTURA COUNTY.

NEW TANK STEAMER BUILT FOR SHIPPING OIL.

Nordhoff High-school District Declared Illegal—Bitter Contest Over Elections—Rula Pleads Guilty to Simple Assault.

VENTURA, Nov. 11.—(Regular correspondence.) The wisecracks who questioned the accuracy of the statement made exclusively in The Times in June last, that the Pacific Coast Oil Company had reached this city that day, from the shipyard of the Union Iron Works in San Francisco, a tank steamer of 187 feet in length over all and 28 feet beam, with a capacity of 6000 barrels, and of general importance to the district, were yesterday launched. The new steamer was christened the George Loomis in honor of the first president of the Pacific Coast Oil Company, and is fully equipped with every modern device, including oil-burning furnaces.

It is in contemplation for her to make six trips monthly between Ventura and San Francisco, beginning about December 15. The work on the storage tank in this city is being pushed rapidly as possible. The pipe-line from the Pico district to the Ventura tank and from there to the wharf will be fully completed within the next ten days.

Judge Williams, on Saturday, in the Superior Court, decided a case of great local interest, and of general importance to district-school boards who have in contemplation the formation of new school districts. The case, a bar involved the legality of the formation of a new high-school district for Nordhoff, and has excited general interest throughout the district. After a long and bitter contest, the proposed new district was first mentioned, which gathered force as the scheme progressed, until it was finally carried to the Superior Court for settlement. In rendering his decision Judge Williams held that the trustees had acted without legal authority in nearly all of their preliminary acts looking to the formation of the Nordhoff high-school district, and therefore decided against the trustees and in favor of the protesting taxpayers. This settles the question of the proposed Nordhoff High School.

THE CITY ELECTION.

When the City Clerk's office closes tonight the last campaign will have been filed. The last petition for a place on the ticket, and the heavy skirmishing for place will have become back history. Agreements never before mentioned, and it has finally sifted down to the following, whose petitions are on file: W. H. A. Thompson, Joseph Kaiser, James Daly and L. F. Webster. Late Saturday night consternation was created in the ranks of the aspirants by the circulation of a rumor that ex-Assemblyman William H. A. Thompson had been elected to the office. Had he consented to the use of his name his election would have been practically certain, which fact caused the uneasiness among the statesmen who are in the fight to win.

When Clerk J. F. Newby takes exception to the statement made in The Times that he had formed a combination with the old Board of Trustees to issue a daily paper, he said that would include the names of these seven candidates. He wishes it understood that he is in the hands of his friends and relatives, and takes absolutely no interest in any fight but his own. The rumor that a combination had been made grew out of the fact that Charles McDonald, a clerk in the city hall, had been seen in consultation with T. A. Newby, M. Bosart and T. O. Toland, during which the petition was discussed and finally presented by Mr. McDonald for signature. The petition includes the seven names as stated.

The whole situation is becoming more and more complicated as the election draws near, and the campaign, from present indications, will go down in the political history of the town as the most bitterly-contested of record.

THE STORY ABOUT THE CARLIN.

DARMSTADT, Nov. 11.—Nothing is known in court circles here of the sensational story circulated in the United States regarding the illness of the Carlin, whose life was said to be despaired of, as the result of a Caesarean operation. ### INTERESTING TESTS OF THE NEW MANNLICHER RIFLE.

The Only Weapon of the Kind Outside of Germany—Death Prominent Citizens—Two Saloon Licenses Granted for Chino.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) Several very interesting tests of the improved Mannlicher rifle, the new gun of the German army, were made at Co. E's range yesterday, and to the surprise of military people, as well as laymen, who witnessed the tests, the quarter-inch iron plate, a three-eighths and one-half-inch steel plate were successively placed on the target, and the shot from the rifle pierced each, leaving a smooth-cut opening as if it had been punched out with some massive hammer. The force of the projectile is simply terrific. The gun is the property of A. Ackerman of Sacramento, who is in the city.

How Mr. Ackerman came into possession of the rifle he will not say. The gun is manufactured by the German government and Mr. Ackerman has had more than one passage at arms with the German Consul at San Francisco, who has been instructed to secure the gun, if possible. The owner, however, defies Emperor William's mandate, and goes on making tests with the wonderful weapon.

The cartridges are also manufactured by the government, but Ackerman manages to keep himself supplied, although the secret of their manufacture, and the means by which such an awful force is generated, has not been discovered.

At the test yesterday, a quarter-inch iron plate, secured at the Santa Fe shop, was first up and a bullet from the rifle cut a hole through it half an inch in diameter, and a smooth as a drilled hole. A three-eighths-inch steel plate was next tried and with the same result. The final test was a half-inch steel plate, and to the surprise of every one who witnessed it, the plate was perforated, apparently with as much ease as the thinner ones had been.

The cartridges are three and one-quarter inches in length, and are carried in small metallic frames; five cartridges in a frame. The force of the shot is in the whole, and the five shots may thus be fired in rapid succession, the apparatus by which a shell is thrown is so arranged that the trigger pulls with three pounds weight. The Springfield rifle, used by United States troops, weighs about thirty pounds. The bullet is nearly five-sixteenths of an inch in diameter, and about one and one-quarter inches in length, corresponding nearly to a .35 caliber. It is of steel, sheathed in nickel. The force in the cartridges is generated by some explosive, the nature of which is a state secret. When the cartridge is shaken, the "powder" can be heard rattling, and the space does not seem to be half full of explosive.

The gun itself is complicated. The barrel is triple. Inside is a rifled steel cylinder, and this is encased in a half, although its range is much farther, and a body of troops armed with this gun, would be able to wipe out a whole army carrying the Springfield.

The weapon is considered to be by far the most formidable in use by any nation in the world.

DEATH OF C. E. MOORE. A much-regretted death occurred in this city Saturday night, that of Charles Edward Moore. Mr. Moore was a Canadian by birth, having been born in Benbridge, Ontario, about the year first of his life. He came to California over six years ago, his health at that time compelling him to seek a milder climate. He settled first in Kingsburg, and a little later came to this city, forming a partnership with his brother, P. H. Moore, which was continued until last January, when the latter removed to Chicago.

The deceased leaves a widow and four children. The funeral will be held from the First Methodist Episcopal Church at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Several clergymen will take part in the services. A telegram was received today from Rev. C. A. Westerman of Santa Barbara, saying he would be here this evening.

F. H. Moore telegraphed that he would leave Chicago yesterday, but telling the relatives to proceed with the funeral, without awaiting his arrival.

TWO SALOONS FOR CHINO. Chino is to have two saloons, and is no longer a "dry town." The Board of Supervisors this morning granted two retail liquor licenses to petitioners from that place, and now L. E. Dey and Pierre Farid are authorized to quench the thirst of Chinolites, providing a quart of liquor at a time is sufficient.

The liquor question has been a stubbornly-contested one at Chino. With a regularly recurring petitioning, applications have continually been filed with the Board of Supervisors, asking that body to license the sale of liquor, but just as regularly counter petitions have come up, praying that the licenses be not granted, and the opponents of the saloons have always been victorious.

But the liquor dealers scored a victory not long ago when they went into the relative to proceed with the ordinance with reference to wineries, and succeeded in having that section ruled unconstitutional, and the Board of Supervisors had it reformed to conform to the ruling.

Whether this disheartened the anti-saloon people or not is unknown, but at any rate they neglected to make a fight on the petition for licenses, which were granted today, and the bonds being acceptable, the Board granted them, Supervisor Newburg being excused from voting.

SAN BERNARDINO BREVIETTES. A party of electric light employees, greenhorns, and others, spent yesterday hunting the elusive duck along the raging Santa Ana, in the vicinity of Rincon. One of the party forgot his compass, and also his lunch, and started unintentionally on an exploring trip down the river, looking principally for landmarks and lunch-carryers. About the time he thought the broad Pacific ought to be heaving in sight, he discovered the Redlands High School, and the headquarters of the hunting party. A can of sardines preserved his life, but he carried that tired feeling all the way home, the other members of the party carrying the duck.

The resignation of Miss Frances W. Lewis as member of the County Board of Education, which she tendered her resignation, the action resulted from the withdrawal of opposition to her remaining on the Board, by the Redlands people. The resignation in the Vadim Demens case, for attempted highway robbery, is closed. The defense's evidence consisted of statements of persons who saw the robbery taking place, and who said that he did not look like the prisoner. The case will probably be concluded tomorrow.

A horse stolen from Joseph Wagner has been found by Deputy Sheriff George Heaps and George Brazelton at the place of Robert Irwin, on Lytle creek, north of Irwin. The horse came to his place with saddle and bridle on, and dragging a picket rope.

C. G. Lundholm of Centralia, Ill., will succeed Thomas D. Williams as assistant master mechanic of the Southern Pacific. Mr. Williams's removal to Los Angeles is a promotion, being made master mechanic in charge in that city.

Brig. Gen. J. F. Dins, appointment of Capt. J. F. Dins as major and brigade inspector, gives general satisfaction here. Maj. Dins is a Republican, and is serving the four years joint office of Clerk, Recorder and Auditor.

Superintendent Muir of the Southern Pacific was in the city this morning inspecting the Motor road improvements.

City Clerk O. D. Foy leaves tonight for India to spend some time on the coast, for the benefit of his health.

C. C. Tracy, of the construction department of the Southern Pacific, was in the city today.

Dist. Atty. Daley, Harry Lantz and Col. A. B. Paris spent Sunday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. C. J. Wilder returns to her home at Monterey, Cal., today.

James Bunn left for Kansas City this morning.

Nathan Diamond has gone to San Jacinto.

REDLANDS. REDLANDS, Nov. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) More and more it is apparent that Redlands needs a public school. Not a nook nor a corner even is there in the whole town, owned by the city, where the wayfarer may find a place of rest or recreation. Again and again has the matter been agitated, through the press and otherwise, but to no avail. Should the city vote bonds for an electric road, street and other improvements, it is probable that provision would be made for the purchase of a small tract of land for park purposes. This there is nothing certain. Redlands wants a park badly enough, but how to get it is a problem yet to be solved by her progressive citizens.

The death of Mrs. E. T. Liefeld of consumption occurred at Indio on Saturday night. The remains were brought to this city for interment. The funeral service took place at the home of Mrs. W. F. Harper of Indio.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. J. Anderson are happy over the arrival of a girl baby.

The Y.M.C.A. is holding the week of prayer for associations throughout the world, which commenced Sunday.

Miss Jennie Sharon returned to Moreno today, after a few days' visit with friends.

Warner and George Matteson went today to Julian, San Diego county, driving overland, where they go to engage in mining.

Calvin Lyon has completed a barn on his place in Crafston.

A rainstorm set in about noon today. The rain was very heavy, and will begin on Hotel Redlands, for which citizens have contributed $20,000 as a subsidy. It is intended to be open by February 1 as a tourist hotel.

ONTARIO. ONTARIO, Nov. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) It is proposed to make the aqueduct south to tendred the prominent feature of the city, a notable event. Over one hundred names have been secured as participants.

The organization of an amateur opera company is being discussed. There is some good talent in Ontario, a competent leader of the orchestra, it is probable that C. O. Nichols will supply this essential.

Dr. Grainger Hyer has 200 varieties of chrysanthemums in bloom. The district convention of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society will be held in the Methodist Church of this place November 20-22.

SUGAR-BEET PROPOSITION. The meeting of stockholders of the co-operative beet-sugar company at Anaheim last night, which resulted in bringing out some information of an important character in reference to the erection of a factory in the near future. It has been believed for the past year or more that the Oranids have been trying to kill the beet-sugar industry in Orange and other counties in California.

United States when Dr. Van Norman of San Diego, who is a director of the beet-sugar company in this county, well as a result of his investigation, the stockholders of the association were not surprised to learn that the Oranids had been instrumental in keeping the Anaheim bonds of the market. shops, will be returned. "Bus transportation during wet weather is rather inconvenient, and the traveling public would like to see the motor flying between Pomona and Los Angeles."

The protracted meeting that has been in progress for two or three weeks at the Christian Church has closed. There were nineteen additions to the church membership.

The Knights of Pythias will give an entertainment and supper Wednesday evening.

The attendance Saturday night, on the occasion of the benefit given by Pomona to the Shaw Theatrical company, was as large as could be packed within the Kesler Hall.

The subject "How to Read the Bible" will be discussed next Sunday morning at the Christian Church.

The jury in the Miranda case was out all Saturday night, the case having been given to them at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Failing to agree, they were discharged Sunday morning, the last standing on conviction and acquittal.

The Episcopal Church says that their bazaar this week will be very attractive.

Pomona now needs a public hall more than any other one thing, perhaps.

SANTA MONICA. SANTA MONICA, Nov. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) The three-masted ship Eden Hall, from London, was brought in from the sea by the Collis Saturday afternoon, and this morning was hauled along the beach by the work of the Eden Hall.

The Eden Hall was 133 days making the trip from London to Santa Monica, which was without special incident.

A carful of passengers came from Los Angeles on the afternoon train to take passage for northern points on the coast, which cleared at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

S. Jackson and wife returned to Santa Monica on the last train Saturday evening, after a two-month tour through Eastern States. They went to Chicago on the trip, and en route had the pleasure of visiting the parents of both.

They met with less storm enough to bear a man's weight, but escaped severe weather by making west again.

Rev. Dr. Demmes of Los Angeles filed the Presbyterian pulpit here yesterday.

Next Sunday will be communion, with a supply speaker, but a week later the congregation is expected to start on a tour.

F. T. Pastor, who has accepted a call to the pastorate, will soon be on his way here from Iowa.

Freight trains have been made by the railroad people with the Suma granite from up the coast. When the Southern Pacific extends its coast line from Los Angeles to Santa Monica, the Suma granite will be a point where there is an inexhaustible supply of this granite.

Tests show that this stone will resist the action of acid, and will make its availability of considerable consequence in future developments hereabouts.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY. MAYNE'S CHARACTER WITNESSES CAUSE A SMILE.

The Fact that They are All Officers—Holders Might be Considered Significant—Mining Operations, Shipping News—Personal.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) The summing up of members of the Common Council of this city and of His Honor Mayor Carlsson to Los Angeles to testify as to Clifton E. Mayne's good character, causes a very broad smile among people down this way. It was only last spring that Mayne was charged with the crime of bribery for attempting to bribe Councilmen to vote for a certain water franchise.

As Mayne was not the owner of any water, the supposition is that he was employed by some schemer. Why the Council and the county law officers have not long ago run down the schemer, who used Mayne as a tool to defraud the public officers of this city, has never yet been explained. And now Mayne's lawyers summons Councilmen to testify what a good reputation the late Mayor had.

A number of these city fathers have reason to be well acquainted with Clifton. He was quite chummy with them last spring and summer, too. But now the grand jury has found that Mayne's reputation for chastity was good. Bryan probably meant that Clifton had never been caught doing anything of the kind.

It was not reported as saying how many times Mayne had been before him in court. The last time Bryan sat on Mayne's case was in the summer of 1894.

MINING OPERATIONS. Mining operations in this county appear to be on a very healthy basis. Ore from the Ella mine in the Banner district yields $37 in gold per ton, regularly, and that from the Ranchita yields $40. A number of these city fathers have reason to be well acquainted with Clifton. He was quite chummy with them last spring and summer, too.

It is expected that the date when the delinquent penalty will be added, the 26th inst., approaches, the amount of the delinquent penalty will be greatly increased.

TWENTY-FIFTH MILE-STONE OF MARRIED LIFE PASSED HAPPILY.

Riverside and Los Angeles Lacrosse Players to Contest for a Silver Cup—Cana Blanca Lawn Tennis Club Elects Officers—Brevettes.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) One of the pleasantest social events in Riverside for some time was the entertainment by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McIntyre of about one hundred and fifty of their friends at their beautiful home on Lime street Saturday evening on the occasion of their marriage, the couple having been married at Weymouth, Mass., November 10, 1870.

The union was blessed with three children, the eldest, Miss Marguerite, the second, Miss Julia, and the third, Edward W., all having survived to honor their parents in their more mature years.

The two lovely and accomplished daughters are yet at home and work. The youngest, Miss Marguerite, is at Annapolis, Md., and one of the brightest young men of that institution.

After his marriage Mr. McIntyre attended the Columbia University at Washington, D.C., and then graduated in law from the University of New York. He was admitted to the bar in law in that city. The family came to Riverside nine years ago, and since that time has resided here.

The esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre are held in this community was evidenced Saturday evening by the warm congratulations of those who were present.

The decorations were pink and silver. Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre received in front of the front parlor window, assisted by Mrs. W. J. McIntyre.

Mr. W. J. McIntyre was present at the wedding twenty-five years ago. The window curtains back of them were draped in ivory, and the walls were decorated with pink and silver ribbons.

The entrance to the dining-room was arched with pink and silver ribbons, and the dining-room was decorated with pink and silver ribbons.

The four corners of the table to a basket tray filled with pink roses and suspended from the chandeliers. In the center of the table was a large silver cornucopia, filled with La France roses, which were only grown in Riverside.

The mantel and mirror above were trailed with smilax, dotted with pink carnations. Pink finger-bowls, with pink roses, were used. In fact, all the flowers used were either pink carnations or pink roses, the whole presenting a very beautiful appearance.

Mr. McIntyre's dress was a shiny, broad-based black satin, with a waist of fancy pink and silver, trimmed in pink velvet, jet and black lace. The hall was decorated with pink leaves and potted plants in dainty contrast with the richly-papered walls. The tables were presided over by Miss Marguerite McIntyre in white dress, silk, assisted by Misses Ivy Jessup in white, Louise Twoogood in lavender silk, and Misses Collier in white, Edith Hursey in pink silk, Alice Hursey in white silk and Julia McIntyre in white albino.

Master Frank Collier received at the door and Miss Collier at the head of the stairs. Henry Ohmeyer's orchestra discoursed excellent music. There were many valuable and beautiful presents.

LACROSSE AT THE PARK. Arrangements have been made for a game of lacrosse to be played Thanksgiving forenoon at the park, between two local teams, the Chesterfields and the Santa Barbara Lacrosse. An exciting contest in the Canadian national game is promised. A practice game will be played on the grounds tomorrow afternoon and a small admission will be charged to pay for a dozen lacrosse sticks, ordered from Canada. From the two teams will be selected a team to play the Los Angeles team, who are charged on Christmas and New Years, on one of which dates a game will be played at Riverside.

NEW TENNIS CLUB OFFICERS. At the annual meeting of the Casa Blanca Lawn Tennis Club, Saturday last, officers to serve the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Robert Lee Betner; vice-president, B. H. White; secretary, Robert Lee Betner; D. Osborn; Executive Committee, Halsted, D. D. Dwyckinck, W. E. West and J. Bakewell Phillips. During the past year the club has been very successful in the clubhouse and grounds and it is doubtful if any lawn tennis club in the State is better equipped or on a better footing than the Casa Blanca club. After the meeting a chrysanthemum tea was given by Mrs. Robert L. Betner, and a small admission was charged to pay for a dozen lacrosse sticks, ordered from Canada. From the two teams will be selected a team to play the Los Angeles team, who are charged on Christmas and New Years, on one of which dates a game will be played at Riverside.

THEY GOT EXCITED.

Riverside Officers-holders Fearful of Losing Their Jobs.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—When the report became circulated here yesterday that the Supreme Court had decided that the act of the county board of supervisors must be held in abeyance until the next election, a great commotion among the officials at the Courthouse. The boys had about settled down for a term of four years, and the report came as a thunder-clap from a clear sky, and the effect did not entirely wear off when it was learned that the decision in question was one which pronounced unconstitutional that part of the county government act of 1883 which provides that vagrants be tried by a jury. The officials are fearful lest the act in question in one particular is not so in all. A hurried searching of authorities is now in progress.

Dog and Pony Show.

Prof. Gentry's dog and pony show attracted a good-sized audience last night despite the inclemency of the weather. Those who ventured out evidently felt repaid, judging by the applause which greeted the feats of the four-footed performers. Prof. Gentry's show possesses decidedly more merit than most exhibitions of this kind. There are about one hundred dogs and ponies in the company, all of which take part in the performance. The entertainment last night commenced with a military drill by the ponies. They marched and counter-marched and obeyed all the commands given, with the precision of a company of militia. This feature of the performance was made more interesting by the antics of Eureka, the clown pony. After the drill the ponies retired and the dogs were given a chance to display their talents, which they did in a most satisfactory manner. The feature of the canine portion of the show is Barney, a small black dog, who performs the act of turning down back somersaults without any effort. Major is also a star performer. He fills the difficult role of clown and succeeds in perpetrating real jokes, a thing which human clowns often fail to do. Space forbids mention of the many clever tricks performed by the animals. It is sufficient to say that the exhibition is first-class in every respect. It is especially attractive for ladies and children. The performance closed with a revolving pyramid of dogs and ponies, which was very pretty. The tent is located at the corner of Grand avenue and Tenth street. The engagement will last the remainder of the week.

CIVIC PARLIAMENT.

A SUCCESSFUL OPENING SESSION HELD LAST EVENING.

Question of Christian Citizenship Discussed by Able Speakers—A General Discussion of the Subject Follows.

The opening session of the Civic Parliament was held at Unity Church last night. In spite of the stormy weather a good-sized audience was present to hear the subject of Christian citizenship discussed by Rev. Burt Estes Howard, Dr. J. S. Thomson, Miss G. T. Stickney, and Ralph E. Hoyt.

The meeting was opened by Rev. I. E. Wright, president of the association. He said that the plan of the association was the only practical method for the interchange of thought. Thinkers and earnest workers have neglected each other too long.

The music for the evening was furnished by O. W. Moore, the well-known soloist, who sang "The Opened Home" by Cowen, and "When the Heart Was Young," in an excellent voice and very pleasing manner.

Miss Fette read a letter of enthusiastic encouragement and commendation from Mrs. Caroline M. Severance.

She hoped that the excellent plan of discussion adopted by the parliament would be carefully followed out, and that frequent meetings would be held.

She believed that the time had come when people who have display on something should let others know it.

Rev. Burt Estes Howard was the leading speaker of the evening, and he delivered a masterly address upon the subject of "Christian Citizenship."

Among other things, Dr. Howard said: "It is with no small hesitation that I undertake the discussion of a theme of such tremendous importance as this topic assigned me by the courtesy of the Civic Parliament. There are several reasons why I shrink from the task. First of all, because I fear lest by my unskillful handling the strength of Christian citizenship shall not be maintained, and great truth suffers from a weak defense. Second, because I am a minister, and the public is slow to let the minister take his place in the community as a man among men. Because the public has robbed the minister of his virility and made him a perfunctory member of state and church, and because the public has regarded the minister as something less than a man and other than a citizen, I am reluctant to speak on a theme that seems to lie outside the range of the proper exercise of the ministerial function. But if you will allow me to speak as a Christian man and a Christian citizen whose interests and efforts are personal and not professional, then I am ready to go on."

"In order to get a proper conception of the theme before us we must have our ideas of what we are talking about cleared up. First of all, then, what is Christianity? He is not the best Christian whose credulity has the largest throat and can swallow most easily the husks of scholastic deliverances. It is possible, and not uncommon, for men to be possessed of a most orthodox theology and at the same time possessed of the devil. Christianity is fundamentally not a matter of logic, but a matter of life. It is not the promotion of a denominational creed, but the utterance of a divine character."

"And, again we must guard ourselves against that definition of Christianity that makes its essence lie in a form of so-called religious experience. Whatever of good the world holds is of God. Christianity must not be confounded with any organic form in which it may claim to present itself."

"And this is Christian citizenship. It is not the welding together of a corrupt church and a corrupt church. It is the reign in politics, as well as in our life, of the principle laid down long ago by Jesus Christ, 'If any man will be chief among you, let him be your servant,' and that other word, 'I have loved you.' This is my commandment, that ye love one another, that ye love your neighbor as I have loved you."

Dr. J. S. Thomson was the next speaker. He said, in part: "One who lives a real Christian life does his part toward practical Christian citizenship. The public is a donkey. It will hear all sorts of burdens; it will pay any sort of taxes rather than deprecate the tax gatherer, who doubles his taxes annually or oftener. The king in this country is King Boodle."

"I believe in an aristocratic form of government. It is always the strongest, wisest, and best. But the aristocracy I believe in is the aristocracy of brains and hearts, not the aristocracy of titled villains and self-exalted rascals."

"We are imposed upon altogether too much for our good. For myself I am resolved not to be imposed upon any more unless it is by some one who is too cunning for me. I will bear no more imposition willingly."

"If you believe that the Angel City is governed by men who deal honestly for their city, re-elect them; if not, help to put them out as soon as possible."

"The churches stand for citizenship in another country. The best citizens here will be the best citizens there. In Rome's imperial day it was the noble Roman matrons who made Rome great by raising great sons. Those matrons did not range over the country to harangue mobs, or lecture, or consort with all classes of men. Give us matronly women in all homes and we will have an exemplification of Christian citizenship."

The general discussion was led by Ralph E. Hoyt. He claimed that "Christian citizenship" is a misnomer; that a careful distinction in the use of that while much that was stated by the other speakers was true, it was not possible to unite religion and government.

Miss G. T. Stickney followed in a brief but earnest speech, which was a plea for the rights of womanhood. She claimed that the woes of women are not heard or heeded at the ballot-box.

The subject for this afternoon's discussion is "Labor Question."

Addresses will be led by Rev. J. C. Howard and Prof. Edward Hutchison.

The Land Question will be the subject of discussion at the evening session. Clarence A. Miller, Esq., will deliver an address, and the general discussion to follow will be led by J. Waldron and Hon. Frank G. Finlayson.

Miss Josephine Gilman will recite, with a musical accompaniment, the touching poem, "Singing in God's Acre," written by Eugene Field, and recited at his obsequies.

LADIES—FUR WORK. Remember that on Wednesday Mr. Fuller, the furrier of Pasadena, will be at the Nadeau again. Visitors will find an usher at the hotel office to conduct them to Mr. Fuller's parlors. A lady assistant will be in attendance.

SOMEONE BLUNDERED.

The A.R.U. Strikers in North Dakota Surrender Unconditionally.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Nov. 11.—A Devil's Lake, N. D., special to the Pioneer Press says that the strike is off. This afternoon A.R.U. Lodge, No. 150, embracing the territory west to Leeds and east to Michigan City from Devil's Lake, met and declared the strike off unconditionally.

Resolutions were published condemning the road, and also stating the new men would not be molested or disturbed in any manner by the members of the A.R.U. The discharged men will go to other points and seek situations. The instigators of the strike refuse to state openly why they have so completely surrendered. One of them, however, told the whole story when, in reply to an inquiry, he said: "Someone blundered."
